ABOUT US

The BBC will accommodate children, aged newborn to three years, and will serve as a laboratory classroom for Adrian College teacher education students, under the supervision of Mary Bruggenwirth, the Center’s director and lead teacher.

Bruggenwirth holds a MA in early childhood education, as well as Early Childhood General and Special Education (ZS) Endorsement. She has more than six years of experience in early childhood education, and said she’s looking forward to working with the Adrian College teacher education students as well as the “baby bulldogs.”
